《"梅姨"金球奖颁奖典礼呛声特朗普特朗普回应:"希拉里的情人》

导读:在昨日的金球奖颁奖典礼上,金球奖终身成就奖获得者梅丽儿·斯特里普发表了获奖感言,她虽只字未提唐纳德·特朗普,却句句都是在攻击这位当选总统,并获得了在场同僚和网友们的力挺。

(CNN) — Meryl Streep was honored at the Golden Globes for a lifetime of notable work, and she took the opportunity to make a sustained attack on US President-elect Donald Trump.

In a nearly 6-minute address, the actress denounced Trump's campaign rhetoric and criticized him for mocking a disabled reporter.

Streep said: "There was one performance this year that stunned me. It sank its hooks in my heart. Not because it was good, there was nothing good about it, but it was effective and it did its job.

"It was that moment when the person asking to sit in the most respected seat in our country imitated a disabled reporter. Someone he outranked in privilege, power and the capacity to fight back."

Streep's comments were a reference to a rally by Trump in November 2015 when he imitated New York Times reporter Serge Kovaleski, who has a condition that affects his joint movements. Trump has always denied he was mocking the reporter.

In an interview with the The New York Times Monday morning, Trump said he was "not surprised" by the criticism from "liberal movie people," pointing out that Streep was a supporter of his defeated rival, Hillary Clinton.

Streep used her speech to highlight the importance to American culture of outsiders and foreigners, whom she said were among the "most vilified segments in American society right now.

"Hollywood is crawling with outsiders and foreigners and if we kick them all out, you'll have nothing to watch but football and mixed martial arts, which are not the arts," Streep said to huge applause from the room.

Streep said Trump's attack on the New York Times reporter legitimized bullying.

"It kind of broke my heart when I saw it and I still can't get it out of my head because it wasn't in a movie, it was real life," Streep said. "This instinct to humiliate when it's modeled by someone in the public ... by someone powerful, it filters down into everyone's life because it kind of gives permission for other people to do the same."

Streep added: "When the powerful use their position to bully others, we all lose."

She called on the press to "hold power to account, to call him on the carpet for every outrage" - another apparent reference to Trump.

Streep asked audience members to support the nonprofit Committee to Protect Journalists "because we're going to need them going forward and they're going to need us to safeguard the truth."

Trump: Streep is a 'Hillary lover'

Responding to Streep's speech, Trump again denied mocking Kovaleski. "I was never mocking anyone," Trump told the New York Times. "People keep saying I that I intended to mock the reporter's disability, as if Meryl Streep and others could read my mind, and I did no such thing."

Trump, who had not seen the speech, called Streep "a Hillary lover," according to the Times.
